Objective: The objective of workshop on Scientific writing made easy for faculties is to bridge the gap between scientific research and its comprehension by a wider audience. It promotes knowledge dissemination, encourages collaboration, and fosters a greater appreciation and understanding of scientific advancements.

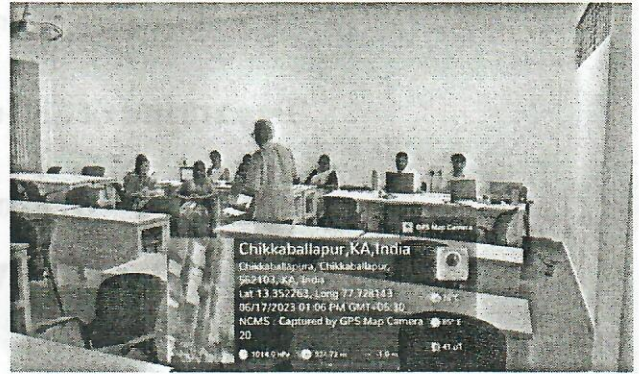

Brief Write up on the Programme: [min 10 lines]:

NCMS in association with IQAC and Department of Science organized a workshop on scientific writing made easy. The resource person spoke how scientific writing plays a crucial role in communicating research findings and ideas to the scientific community and beyond. He said writing science article in a straightforward language helps readers comprehend complex concepts more easily. He suggested avoiding excessive jargon or technical terms that may confuse or alienate readers. Instead, opt for plain language and explain technical terms when necessary. He took relevant examples and analogies that help readers relate to the information and make it more relatable and understandable. He suggested adopting strategies to simplify language, utilize visual aids, provide examples, and offer sufficient context, so that scientific writing becomes more accessible and promotes knowledge dissemination, collaboration, and a broader understanding of scientific advancements.

Learning Outcome:

- Clear and Coherent Writing Style
- Accessibility of Scientific Information
- Writing Proficiency
- Critical Thinking Skills
